FEVER THERAPY GROWS IN USE

Oldest Remedy Known to Man Wins New Advocates in Medical Profession

NEW MEANS EMPLOYED

Radio Waves and Hot Air Boxes Used To Kill Bacteria Without Harm to Humans

BY HOWARD W BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK March 29—A great spread in new uses of artificial fever to treat more than 2[illegible] diseases was reported to the first international conference on fever therapy which began today

Artificial fever is the raising of all or any part of the body temperature As hot water and hot sand baths it is the oldest remedy known to man

But today's conference dealt with mysteries mostly of the last two year puzzle discovered in [illegible] fever made by two new de[vices] radio wave machines and hot air boxes of 10[illegible] degrees fahrenheit

Fever Kills Bacteria

Fever running temperatures up to about 105 degrees it was explained by Prof Pierre Abrami of the University of Paris kill quite a variety of dangerous bacteria just below the point where the heat becomes dangerous to human life

[illegible] medical men also have seen [illegible] and cures with scarcely a raising of temperature Two [illegible] he explained seem to be involved shock which sometimes helps to cure instead of to kill and the clearing effect of fever

There are present two complete [illegible] methods of [illegible] artificial fever [illegible]

One is [illegible] with [illegible] like [illegible] or [illegible] with common [illegible] and inoculation with malaria [illegible] The other [illegible] heating [illegible] radio waves [illegible] electricity or water

Move Started To Restore Old Quarry St. Cemetery

Already a group of citizens have given him support in the project They are [illegible] Axe Fred [illegible] [illegible] Danner Miss Louis Cunningham and Mrs Emma Thompson

Campaign for Funds

Mr Curtis is heading a campaign to raise $1 000 by public subscription to carry out a tentative program of restoration and beautification He proposes to have the grave markers straightened the fences replaced with shrubs and to have a decorative entrance and concrete walks built The cemetery although no effort to revive its use as a burial ground is considered would become somewhat of a park if the program is carried out

Any one seeing the burial grounds will agree it should be re[stored] [illegible] said [illegible] we will have no trouble [illegible] the funds for this purpose [illegible] neglected [illegible] have [illegible] If [illegible] we finish our program it will be placed in the hands of a responsible party to [illegible] in maintaining the cemetery However I hope [illegible] township trustees [illegible] maintain [illegible] has been [illegible]

By The Associated Press

NEWARK N J March 29—Heavyweight Champion Jimmy Braddock today was served with a court order designed to prevent his bout with Joe Louis at Chicago June 22 until he first has gone through with a championship defense against Max Schmeling in New York June 3

The papers concern Madison Square Garden's effort to force Braddock to give up his bout with Joe Louis a Chicago June 22 and concentrate on a fight with Max Schmeling here June 3 They have been in the center of the affair since it began whirling with tornado speed Saturday morning leaving all observers dizzy and hardly able to distinguish the facts from the beclouding statements

Trio of Proposals

MAD CHEF'S ARREST OPENS KILLING QUIZ

Suspect Butcher Knife in Hand Runs Amuck Before Being Downed by Police

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND March 29—Investigation of Cleveland's eight decapitation slayings since September 1934 was revived today when police held a 26-year-old unemployed chef who went mad near the scene of the killings of Kingsbury run

The man a butcher knife in hand went berserk in an east side neighborhood about a mile from the desolate creek where six of the bodies were found and barricaded himself in his rooms after throwing residents into terror Police called by distraught neighbors watched as he broke 12 windows a stove a chest an ice box a bed and an oak dresser

While four policemen held his attention by daring him to cut them with the long knife a fifth crept into the room and knocked him unconscious with a mop handle

The man was taken to a psychopathic ward and placed in a straitjacket He was unable to talk rationally and questioning was delayed

Police found an assortment of butcher knives a small-caliber pistol and other weapons in the suspect's rooms. The knives were turned over to police ballistic expert David L. Cowles for examination

A score or more suspects have been held in earlier investigations, but all were released.

Authorities have expressed belief that the eight decapitations apparently were committed by the same person—someone with a knowledge of anatomy, human or animal.

Beautiful Artists Model Her Mother and Roomer Victims of Assault

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK March 29—Police Inspector [illegible] and Rudolph McLaughlin investigating the Easter triple slaying of pretty Veronica Gedeon 20 year old artists model her mother and a man roomer took into custody for questioning today a man identified by them only as "Louis or Frenchy"

[illegible] brother of Gene Tunney former heavyweight champion said the man was taken in a tenement house directly across the street from where Miss Gedeon's mother Mrs Mary Gedeon operated a furnished rooming house until last December Miss Gedeon and her mother were strangled to death

Spirited Away

The man was taken by the officers to the East 51st street station He was described as being about five feet five inches tall and short and stocky Shortly after his arrival a squad of officers took him away in a car to an unannounced destination

Frank Byrnes 35 waiter and bartender who had been renting a room in the Gedeon apartment for five weeks was stabbed in the head His six wounds indicated an ice pick may have been the weapon

The Gedeon apartment is on the fourth floor of an unpretentious building on fashionable Beekman hill only a block and a half from the apartment house where Mrs Nancy Titterton was killed last April by John Fiorenza upholsterer's assistant who recently was electrocuted

Killings Saturday Night

Dr Thomas A Gonzales chief medical examiner estimated that the killings had taken place between 7 p m Saturday and 4 a m Easter Sunday and that Mrs Gedeon was the first to be slain with Byrnes next and Veronica last He said Mrs Gedeon had been criminally assaulted

Only one inhabitant of the five room apartment remained alive when the killer's work was finished That was a little Pekinese dog

HIGH COURT ALTERS ITS FORMER STAND IN 5 TO 4 DECISION

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON March 29—The supreme court upheld two major acts of the Roosevelt administration today and affirmed the principle of state regulation of minimum wages for women

Reversing its previous stand on the question of state control of minimum wages the high tribunal upheld the constitutionality of the Washington law establishing minimum wages for women

It also upheld the validity of the railway labor and the Frazier Lemke farm mortgage acts

The major decision of the 5 to 4 opinion of the Washington law was delivered by Chief Justice Hughes who referred to a 14 year old decision which held unconstitutional a District of Columbia minimum wage act for women

This act Adkins vs Children's Hospital had formed the basis for recent minimum wage rulings of the supreme court which had consistently decided against federal as well as state efforts to guarantee minimum wages

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON March 29 The supreme court held constitutional today the revised Frazier Lemke act authorizing a three year moratorium on farm mortgage foreclosures

Justice Brandeis delivered the unanimous decision of the court that the provisions of the involved legislation made no unreasonable modification of the mortgagee's rights and hence are valid

It was Brandeis who delivered the unanimous decision two years ago holding the original Frazier Lemke act granting a five year moratorium unconstitutional on the ground that it took property without due process of law

In today's decision Brandeis said the court had no occasion to decide whether an absolute stay of three years would have been justified under the bankruptcy power

"We are of opinion" he added "that while the act affords the debtor ordinarily a three year period of rehabilitation the stay provided for is not an absolute one, and that the court may terminate the stay and order a sale earlier"

Rep Lemke of North Dakota co author of the measure was among the attorneys arguing in its behalf

The amended legislation was passed in an effort to meet supreme court objections to the original act declared unconstitutional two years ago

A five year moratorium was granted by the original measure The revised one limited it to three years and gave federal courts greater control over the property of the debtor

Among other things it provided that the farmer retained possession only as long as he complied with the orders of the court and paid a reasonable rental The court also could require payment on the principal

The argument is Brandeis said that possession by the mortgagor during the stay is necessarily less favorable to the mortgagee than possession by a receiver or trustee would be

"That is not true The mortgagor is in default but it is not therefore to be assumed that he is a wrong doer or incompetent to conduct farming operations The legislation is designed to aid victims of the general economic depression

"The mortgagor is familiar with the property and presumably vitally interested in preserving ownership thereof and ready to exert himself to the uttermost to that end It is not unreasonable to assume that, under these circumstances the interests of all concerned will be better served by

WASHINGTON March 29 The supreme court reversed itself in a 5 to 4 decision today to uphold the right of a state to establish a minimum wage for women

"What can be closer to the public interest than the health of women and their protection from unscrupulous and overreaching employers" Chief Justice Hughes asked in speaking for the majority of the court

"And if the protection of women is a legitimate end of the exercise of state power how can it be said that the requirement of the payment of a minimum wage fairly fixed in order to meet the very necessities of existence is not an admissible means to that end"

Speculate on Effect

Capital officialdom immediately hummed with speculation as to whether the decision would have any effect on President Roosevelt's proposal to enlarge the tribunal if justices over 70 do not retire

It was the tribunal's decision last June 1 holding unconstitutional the New York state's establishing a minimum wage for women that caused President Roosevelt to assert that a "no man's land" had been established in which neither the federal nor state governments could function

The Washington case which has been under consideration since last December is the [illegible] in recent years reversed [illegible] the court holding unconstitutional such legislation for the District of Columbia New York state Arizona and Arkansas

Justice Roberts who voted against the New York statute lined up with Chief Justice Hughes in supporting the Washington state measure

Cardozo Brandeis Stone Agree

Also joining Hughes in the majority decision were Justices Cardozo Brandeis and Stone

Dissenters were the four members of the court generally referred to by administration officials as conservatives Sutherland Van Devanter McReynolds and Butler With Roberts they formed the majority in the New York decision

Sutherland who wrote the dissenting opinion referred to a statement by Hughes that the questions involved should receive fresh consideration because of among other things, the economic conditions which have supervened" since the decision 14 years ago in the District of Columbia case

"But the question of the Constitution" Sutherland asserted, does not change with the ebb and flow of economic events

Collective Bargaining for Railway Workers Upheld

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 29—The Virginian Railway Co., lost today in the supreme court in its attack on constitutionality of the railway labor act which guarantees collective bargaining to railway workmen

The unanimous decision was delivered by Justice Stone.

It affirmed a ruling by the fourth circuit court of appeals directing the railroad to negotiate in collective bargaining with a group of its employes on labor disputes.

The railroad also was enjoined from interfering with the workmen in selecting representatives for collective bargaining.

Claim Liberty Curbed

It was contended by the railroad that the legislation, passed in 1926 and amended in 1934, deprived it of liberty and property in violation of the Constitution and attempted to regulate labor relations with employes engaged solely in intrastate activities.

"In an election conducted by the national (railway) mediation board, the railroad's machinists boilermakers, blacksmiths, electricians and sheetmetal workers voted to be represented in collective bargaining by "system federation number 40" of the railway employes department of the American Federation of Labor instead of by an already-existing company union. The government contended the legislation was necessary to curtail strikes and other labor disturbances which would obstruct interstate commerce.

Justice Stone, delivering the opinion, said:

"In considering the propriety of the equitable relief granted here, we can not ignore the judgment of congress, deliberately expressed in legislation, that where the obstruction of the company union is removed, the meeting of employers and employes at the conference table is a powerful aid to industrial peace

"Moreover, the resources of the railway labor act are not exhausted if negotiation fails in the first instance to result in agreement."

Stone said "the statute does not undertake to compel agreement be[illegible]

Replaced by the warm and the bright,
Great lover of nature, people, birds and flower,
Mother outgrew them and found greater light.

The chariot of the Lord swung low last Monday and Mrs. Codding ready and waiting, stepped in to be taken to her home, not made with hands, eternal in the heavens.

Max Sprecklen Codding, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Spracklen, was born near LaRue, Ohio, Sept. [illegible] 18[illegible] and left her earthly tabernacle March [illegible] 1937. She was united in marriage to Harley Max Codding Sept. [illegible] 1900. Surviving with the husband are a daughter Lillian, teacher at Fredericktown, a son Donald who is high school principal [illegible] four sisters, Mrs. [illegible] Herman of Mt. Victory, Ohio, Mrs. William Kelmbieblne, Mrs. John Holv[illegible], Mrs. George Fields of Kenton, Ohio, and a brother [illegible] Spracklen of near LaRue.

In childhood she united with the United Brethren church and during her entire life was a faithful follower of her Lord, a workman who needed not to be ashamed.

Always [illegible] were her first consideration and for them she never knew a sacrifice too difficult to make nor a burden too great to bear.

The charming personality of her [illegible] will live forever in the gardens of memory of all who knew her.

CHURCHES FILLED AS CITY MARKS EASTER

Evangelical, Forest Lawn Presbyterian, West [illegible] M. E., Epworth M. E., Central Christian, First United Brethren and Salem Evangelical and Reformed churches.

Communion marked the day at the Emmanuel Baptist, Emmanuel Lutheran, First Reformed and Salem Evangelical and Reformed churches.

Record attendance were reported for the sunrise prayer services which annually mark the opening of the day of Easter. The sunrise services drew large congregations, particularly young people, to the Life Memorial Baptist, Central Christian, Calvary Evangelical, Oakland Evangelical, Salem Evangelical and Reformed, Epworth M. E., First Presbyterian, Prospect Street M. E., Wesley M. E. and Greenwood Evangelical churches and at the Wesley, Salem and Central churches. Bible classes served breakfast at the close of the worship hour.

The Emmanuel Lutheran and First United Brethren churches were filled to capacity yesterday afternoon for music programs. The vested junior choir of the Lutheran church sang a cantata, "Eternal Life," under the direction of Mrs. Herman P. Watson and at the First United Brethren church the men's glee club from Otterbein college at Westerville sang. A cantata was sung last night at the Trinity Baptist church and there was a colorful pageant at the Prospect Street M. E. church.

A fully choral communion was an impressive Easter worship service at St. Paul Episcopal church at 10:30 a. m., following a children's Easter service and communion at 8.

At St. Mary Catholic church four masses were sung with the church choir singing at the 8:30 and 11 o'clock masses.

Dr. [illegible] who delivered the Good Friday and Easter morning and night sermons at the Calvary Evangelical church when his father, Rev. I. W. tween the employer and employee but it does command those preliminary steps without which no agreement can be reached.

It at least requires the employer to meet and confer with the authorized representatives of its employes, he said.

The court upheld [illegible] Washington [illegible] tax on articles brought into the state for [illegible] Grand Coulee dam.

The [illegible] was delivered by Justice Cardozo. Justices McReynolds and Butler dissented.

Also upheld as constitutional were provisions of the 1934 national firearms act requiring dealers to register with the collector of internal revenue and pay a special tax of $200 a year.

Justice Stone delivered the unanimous decision.

The government won in its effort to punish George W. Norris, Broken Bow, Neb., grocer, for perjury growing out of his 1930 primary campaign against the veteran Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska.

In a unanimous decision delivered by Justice Roberts the tribunal reversed a ruling by the eighth circuit court of appeals ordering a new trial to determine whether the grocer had purged himself of false testimony.

Congressional leaders indicated a more definite labor policy for the administration might follow the supreme court's decision on constitutionality of the Wagner labor relations act.

Recessed Two Weeks

The court assembled after a two weeks recess during which the justices devoted their entire time to writing decisions.

Sen. Robinson of Arkansas, majority leader, and others have said there was no point in considering further labor legislation until after a ruling on the Wagner act.

This law guarantees to workmen the right to collective bargaining—through selected representatives—with their employers on wages, hours and working conditions. It was intended by the administration to [illegible] and other disputes which would affect interstate commerce.

For the time being at least the administration has maintained a "hands off" attitude which has been applied toward sitdown [illegible] though some members of congress have proposed legislation to ban them.

Unable To Act

Robinson said after a White House conference Saturday federal action could not be invoked unless federal laws were violated, federal property interfered with or state authorities requested federal aid to preserve law and order.

Sitdown strikes were denounced

The suit was filed by Adelaide M. Jones, 56-year-old widow, formerly of Zanesville, O., and St. Petersburg, Fla. WASHINGTON, March 29.—Senator Vandenberg, Republican of Michigan, proposed to congress today a modification of the pending child labor amendment to eliminate objections raised against the proposal.

His proposal would cut the age limit from 18 to 16 and provide plainly that congress would have authority to legislate against child labor only where it was labor for hire.

The child labor amendment has been before the states since 1924. Supporters of the Roosevelt court bill have cited this as their chief argument that constitutional amendments take too long to ratify.

His amendment, Vandenberg said, seeks to overcome the major objections which have largely contributed to the delay or failure of ratification in the states heretofore.

Under his proposal he added the government would still be doing everything to eliminate the commercial exploitation of children but will have eliminated possible misunderstanding.

COURT SUIT FOLLOWS WAGON, AUTO CRASH

Richland Township Man Files $5,540 Claim Against Motorist

Edward Klingel of Richland township filed suit against Lloyd Clancy of Tiffin in common pleas court Saturday for $5,540 damages as a result of a collision of Klingel's horse-drawn wagon and a car driven by Clancy.

The accident occurred Nov. 18, 19[illegible] as both Klingel and Clancy were proceeding south on Route 98 just south of Klingel's home in Richland township.

Klingel asserts the defendant drove his auto into the rear of a corn husking machine which Klingel had hitched behind his wagon and horses. The corn husker was demolished and one horse injured so severely it had to be shot, Klingel says. In addition Klingel states he suffered nervous shock, is permanently injured and cannot work as he was wont to do. He accuses Clancy of driving too fast and failing to warn him. W. Dexter Hazen is Klingel's attorney.

Foreclosure Asked

The Fahey Bank Co. petitioned in common pleas court Saturday against O. W. Ash for foreclosure of lot No. 7314 in Glenwood addition and judgment for $1,198.69. Bernard C. Maloney is attorney for the bank.

Suit Dismissed

The suit of Bertha Warner against Anna Scott, administratrix, and Thomas S. Warner, administrator of the estate of James Ramey has been dismissed by Common Pleas Judge Hector S. Young. The plaintiff was seeking judgment of $950 for caring for the deceased from Sept. 1, 1931 to his death June 20, 1936. Carhart, Warner & Carhart represented the plaintiff and John H. Clark the defendants.

Action Settled

Attorneys have notified Judge Hector S. Young of settlement reached in the suit of H. N. Oberlander of Bucyrus against Miller S. and Harry D. Key, administrators of the estate of Miller L. Key, for $2,5[illegible] damages. The suit concerned a dispute over two 10,000-gallon oil or gas storage tanks. Guthery, Streitz & Guthery and W. C. Beer of Bucyrus represented the plaintiff and Paul D. Smith was attorney for the defendants.

Contempt Order Issued

Rule for contempt of court by John H. [illegible] of [illegible] East George street was issued Saturday by Common Pleas Judge Hector S. Young who ordered Cramer to appear at 10 a. m. Wednesday. The request for the contempt order was made by [illegible] Cramer of Marion county. NEW TRIAL SOUGHT IN INDUSTRIAL CASE

Pollack Steel Co. Files Motion After Jury Finds for Plaintiff

Motion for a new trial was filed in common pleas court [illegible] Mrs. Ha[illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] of the late William F. Davis who was killed a few days before his death while in the employ of the steel company.

The company says in its motion that its premiums on workmen's insurance will be greatly increased if the judgment is paid, that the company was never notified of the pendency of the suit and was not represented at the trial. They assert they will be deprived of property without due process of law if the judgment is upheld.

Although the verdict did not name a specific sum, it was reported unofficially the plaintiffs will receive approximately $6,000 from the state fund. It will serve as a mandate to the state industrial commission which had previously denied the plaintiffs the right to participate in the fund.

Losing Hair

Alopecia, as the experts call it, or baldness, as it is commonly called, is a universal affliction. It is a complaint of many male adults.

Baldness causes a great deal of embarrassment to its victim. Some men are as proud of their hair as the peacock is of his fine feathers. When there is loss of hair great distress is caused and the afflicted one will go to any extreme to correct the physical defect.

There are many causes for baldness. In many instances it can be traced to some hereditary factor. In these cases little relief can be promised. But a great many cases of premature baldness are caused by inadequate care of the scalp.

Such disturbances as persistent dandruff, ringworm or eczema are likely to lead to baldness. The victims of certain constitutional diseases may suffer a premature loss of hair. In other cases the underlying causes cannot be determined.

Scalp Hygiene

Regardless of what the cause may be, it is important to bear in mind certain facts. If the hair is to be retained, adequate attention must be paid to the hygiene and health of the scalp. Certainly if dandruff is present it must be corrected if further loss of hair is to be prevented.

If an inflammation of the skin is present medical attention should be obtained. Do not rely upon the use of patent remedies and hair tonics. They are of little value if

The way the United States can [illegible] of [illegible] nation [illegible] if war [illegible] the [illegible] in time of war [illegible]

But the Pittman [illegible] passed overwhelmingly [illegible] the senate [illegible] embargo upon [illegible] of arms ammunition and implements of war to belligerent nations. It [illegible] gives the President [illegible] authority to add other materials to the embargo [illegible] if [illegible] such shipments might endanger neutrality.

The sinking by a German submarine of the British liner Lusitania in May 1915 with a loss of 1150 men women and children 114 of them Americans probably did more to [illegible] anti-German feeling in the United States than any other one thing.

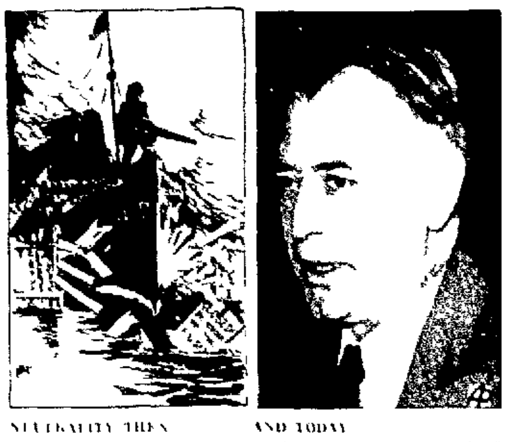
Now the Pittman measure would forbid American citizens traveling on belligerent ships following proclamation by the President of a state of war between foreign nations.

Trade at Ships Risk

Before the United States entered the war financiers in this country loaned millions to allied governments. The Pittman bill prohibits loans or credits to a belligerent nation.

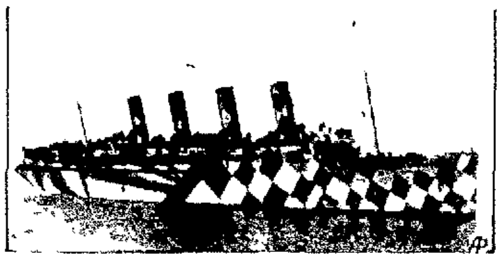
The new plan would not forbid American vessels trading with belligerents in commodities that were not embargoed but would make this trading wholly at the risk of the ship owner. Cash would have to be paid and the title in all commodities transferred from American citizen to foreigners before the goods reached the dock for shipment. Once they had left American ports the United States would have no duty to protect them in transit.

Arming of merchant ships which President Wilson urged also would be forbidden.



NEUTRALITY THEN AND TODAY

Marcus expressed America's attitude toward its neutral "right" to the sea at the time of the war with his cartoon in the New York Times captioned "Damn the Torpedoes, Go Ahead." Today the bill of Senator Key Pittman (above) would scrap this doctrine for the sake of peace.



BACKING A POLICY

Freedom of the seas for neutrals was a major issue with the United States when it loaded doughboys on camouflaged transports and sent them "over there" to fight 20 years ago.

Cold March Day Makes Easter Paraders Cautious

Bright Sun, However, Lures Some Out in New Finery, Churches See Lots of Color

BY HALLIE HOUCK

The sun came out as hoped for but the March lion huffed and puffed too cold a gale to entice any but the brave into a semblance of an Easter parade.

New hats and shoes gloves and purses and corsages were in evidence but there was an overwhelming majority of winter wraps hiding what probably were gay dresses and tricky suits meant for flaunting on a balmy day.

Bright spots in the church going throngs and among those who dared a stroll uptown in the afternoon were the younger generation togged to the hilt in new finery.

Dozens and dozens of Marionites who can be depended on for Easter fashion notes were scurrying about yesterday in winter wear seeking the comfort of warm cars and warm homes in preference to the thrill of a parade.

And there's no fun in jotting down what people have worn since November and will be discarding as soon as the weather settles into spring.

But the younger boys and girls of whom [illegible] The don't know when the air is cold [illegible] to perk up [illegible]

If the weather had been [illegible] more Marion would have seen an Easter parade because larger numbers haven't turned out in years than jammed the churches yesterday morning and merchants last week reported decided uptrends in buying.

Weatherman Opposed

But the weatherman must have been agin such a display.

Surely eyes streaming with tears forced by a Church and Main street gale weren't so deceiving that hurrying a sweet young thing in a white dress and hat along in a jaunty dusty-rose woolen coat wasn't real?

The [illegible] gold [illegible] woolen coat predicted [illegible] by spring [illegible] showed up yesterday.

One young girl chose a fitted model with a flared skirt worn with a wide brown felt brown Breton [illegible] brown shoes purse and gloves.

Another wore a loose-fitting three-quarter length coat. Her pastel green felt sailor had a band of brown grosgrain ribbon and her gloves and purse were brown. Mom [illegible] ing correctly she was one of several orchid wearers too.

As cute as any one sporting new [illegible] was a miss [illegible] outfitted in a bright blue woolen suit [illegible] tailored [illegible] and dark [illegible] felt hat. A [illegible] stroll she was too.

Gray hats hose shoes gloves and purses worn with coats of light or navy blue were in abundance and there was plenty of navy too as the merchants predicted but hats and shoes and accessories are all the parade reporter can account for.

Hats Are Perky

As nat[illegible] as a hat could be was [illegible] blue felt [illegible] inverted flower [illegible] made [illegible] well back on the head [illegible] short [illegible] streamers falling over short [illegible] A gray felt with a bumper [illegible] shallow [illegible] bordered bow [illegible] place had a perky [illegible] and gray bow on top.

Sailors were seen in evidence and some of them were brushed [illegible] rosegay of old fashioned garden flowers. One striking [illegible] of fine straw was given dash by a cluster of large white flowers.

Glimpses were caught of interesting prints and lovely blouses but worn under heavy coats they defied description.

Corsages were gay [illegible] defiant of winter cold and were of great variety chiefly gardenias [illegible] sweetpeas roses and here and there a classic single orchid.

AUTO AND GARAGE DESTROYED BY FIRE

Loss Placed at $300 in Early Morning Blaze on North State Street

Fire early today virtually destroyed a garage at the rear of the residence of Clyde H. Ashworth of 703 North State street and burned an automobile which was housed in the structure. Fire Chief McFarland who said the blaze probably started in the automobile estimated the damage at about $300.

The blaze was first discovered by a passerby who turned in the fire alarm and then awakened the Ashworth family. The call was received at 2:50 o'clock and firemen from company No 3 responded. The loss was not covered by insurance.

400 AKRON STRIKERS GO BACK TO WORK

End Sitdown Strike After Reaching Understanding on Seniority

By The Associated Press

Akron, scene of some of the state's most tenacious labor disputes in recent months, saw its troubles resolve somewhat today when 400 employees returned to work at the Enterprise Manufacturing Co., ending a one-day sitdown strike.

We threshed out an understanding of what seniority means said C T Pflueger vice president of the fishing tackle concern after a meeting with union officials.

A seniority dispute caused the sitdown only a week after employes ended a month-old stay-in strike under an agreement providing a wage increase of five cents an hour.

Former Mayor C Nelson Sparks awaited meanwhile an answer to a letter which he said he had sent to Gov Martin L Davey asking the governor's intervention in the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. dispute now closing its fourth week with 10,000 Akron production workers idle.

Threat of new difficulty on the Ohio labor horizon came at New Philadelphia where Victor Julius president of an Enamelers union local said the union voted to go on strike at the Pelton Stamping & Enameling Co.

Julius claimed the company failed to carry out a national labor board mandate to recognize the union as sole bargaining agent for the company's 240 [illegible]

EVE'S ORCHARD

By MARGARET WIDDEMER

Eve Mannersfield [illegible] her 200 year old [illegible] in Connecticut [illegible] in New York. She [illegible] city loving [illegible] to Manhattan [illegible] an old family [illegible] penniless. Death [illegible] their serious young [illegible] in with Eve. Her neighbor George [illegible] loves her, comes [illegible] its his steel mag[illegible] [illegible] arrives for a [illegible] thrilled to play [illegible] Cleveland from [illegible] get a new job.

[illegible] Motives

They had scarcely taken time to talk of anything but love their sweaters out on the back porch in the May sunshine. The air was sharply sweet, the [illegible] lawn [illegible] beyond them glittering with [illegible] cobwebs. Above a [illegible] the budding orchard. [illegible] had scarcely taken time to talk of anything but love. Presently they heard Martha's window [illegible] above their heads; on this day of all days she was [illegible] for more talk.

"Come on to the orchard," Eve said laughing.

They ran out hand in hand. She laughed and threw back her head, looking around her. "Don't you love it, De[illegible]?"

She had been telling him excitedly about the White French lilac and another nearly rose colored kind [illegible] the purple ones on each side the [illegible] portico they had just passed and that the lilies of the valley had spread so that they were [illegible]

[illegible] to the Cleveland[illegible] [illegible] cocktails and [illegible] hunt breakfasts and games [illegible] Nothing [illegible] Coles [illegible] Well, people [illegible] have to have pleasure [illegible] can afford it and we can only find them in cities."

He was speaking more seriously [illegible] her gay Denny. He hadn't talked much ever of his early life, but what little he had said had given a pretty clear picture—a gay spoiled lad with an indulgent mother, Virginia country house, some sort of financial crash or it may merely have been that the money had come to an end, the mother remarrying a man none too fond of Denny, and Denny gallantly seeking his fortune in pre-depression New York, where a delightful young man could have a good deal more pleasure than without money in the country.

"Gosh, Eve, I don't [illegible] how you've stood it!" he cried.

"I like it," she said, and saw an opening for what she wanted to say. "But the Clevelands aren't the hunt breakfast sort, Denny dear. You can't say that our parlor in the evenings is society column stuff. You saw what a fine simple sort of man he is! You've met him at last and he likes you." They were walking on now through the narrow path. Eve spoke back over her shoulder. "Why don't you speak to him directly about the publicity job in Northern Steel? It's crazy to wait for Mitzi to pull wires when you're right here on the ground with him. I can't understand it."

Denny spoke doggedly. "Mitzi said it would be fatal if I horned in for myself in the middle of what she's doing about it. I'm to go down to Southampton with her over next week-end and help her pick out the place for the summer. She says she'll have it all set up by then. You mustn't forget she's a fine business woman and a natural diplomat."

"Her Mother Taught Her"

Eve recognized Mitzi's own words, shut her lips tight and recommenced speaking temperately.

"Den, I sound like a cat, but you mustn't swallow Mitzi whole."

He gave one of his gay bursts of laughter. "No, you sound as if I was the cat and Mitzi a canary. What you mean, darling?"

"I think Mitzi's dragging [illegible] on purpose just to have you around," Eve said resolutely. "All of us girls have heard her talk about her technique with men. How her mother from Alabama taught her."

"Oh, yes." Denny was laughing again. "Mother was the belle of the countryside like all proper southern mothers—any other attitude about a southern parent is undaughterly. I remember. This is rich."

"She [illegible] out like a business. She tells how you should send your self [illegible] notes or boxes of orchids timed to open when men are there to hear about them. She asks different men in to cocktails all alone, three at a time and [illegible] each one has broken it on the other without he knowing. She buys herself theater tickets and pretends to the men she asks to go with her that the tickets have been given her by other men."

Denny grinned at her. "So she doesn't really like me a bit. I'm just window dressing?"

"Of course she likes you. That's not the point. The point is if she'll do such things, and she does, she's capable of stretching out all this job business just to keep you hanging her around."

"Well," Denny said tolerantly, "I think all that orchid stuff is sort of feminine and cute, but it's different from anything so important as getting a man a better job. I don't think you're fair to Mitzi, darling."

He stood still and took Eve's hands as they stood under the budding trees and talked more seriously.

"Girls don't understand, dear. Mitzi is not only an old friend of Mrs. Cleveland's, but Mr. Cleveland has been awfully interested in her too. This new publicity department in Northern Steel isn't to be got by just going hat in hand and saying 'Sir, I am a worthy young man.' You have to have friends at court as well as deliver the goods. If I thought tackling him myself would mean that I could get the place and we could get married, don't you think I'd have roped and tied him last night?"

Eve began to say, "So you think his friendship for us doesn't count?" when there was an interruption.

"I say, I'm afraid I'm eavesdropping," said George's slow voice.

Ellen Walton confesses her intense love for George, tomorrow.

Jack Leslie's Actions Prove He Knows Secret of Perkins Inn

LILLIAN'S utterance of Jack Leslie's name had something of the effect upon the rest of us that the sudden appearance of a basilisk is supposed to have upon those unlucky enough to see it.

There was absolute silence for the fraction of a second following her excited announcement that Mary's evil genius, whose efforts to find her we thought we had thwarted, was strolling down the street on the opposite side to the Polly Perkins Inn, giving the place the once over.

Then, as if moved by a single [illegible], we [illegible] to the window, except Mary, who had risen to her feet at Lillian's outcry, but who stood motionless with face so drained of color that I halted half way to the window and put my arms around her.

"Don't look like that, dearest," I whispered. "Even if he has found out where you are, which he probably hasn't, and his presence the [illegible] coincidence, you have nothing to fear. We are all here with you. Jack Leslie has no possible chance of reaching you, even to speak to you, and he certainly has no power to harm you."

"That isn't what I'm afraid of," she said through stiff lips. "But don't you see, if he's been able to find me, he's also been able to find out where Noel is? It's Noel he hates even more than he does me. I'm frightened stiff of what he may do to Noel."

There was such conviction in her [illegible] you're [illegible] against my better judgment [illegible] she gave me [illegible] however [illegible]

Shakedown

Conviction of seven men in New York City's special prosecution of the restaurant shakedown racket proves once more that society can and will rid itself of parasites when it gets desperate.

Prosecution of extortionists who victimize restaurant proprietors is part of a continuing campaign which has been turned against loan sharks and organized prostitution previously. A special prosecutor, special appropriations, a special staff and a special judge have been obtaining results which were believed impossible when investigations first started.

There is a lesson for all cities with well organized rackets operating in their midst in what New York is doing. In large cities prosecution of racketeers is a full time job. In any city with a racket problem prosecution is a highly specialized job.

Prosecution cannot be effective unless it is fearless and intelligent. Nothing is gained by roundups of petty figures; the leaders of the hoodlum gangs and their crooked legal advisers must be taken out of circulation. That makes time, money and patience, but the masters of the shakedown must be taught there is a power over them even greater than their own power of intimidation.

One cleanup unfortunately isn't enough. New gangs always are ready to start in when old gangs are broken up. If cities really intend to protect business men from being victimized by terrorists, they must prosecute the rackets month in and month out, year in and year out, until hoodlums are convinced the game's no longer worth the candle.

Another Crash

The crash of an airliner near Allegheny county airport Thursday night, killing its 13 passengers and crew members outright, is the latest addition to a series of disasters which commercial aviation prays may end soon.

The country wants to believe it is safe to fly. Operators want to be able to say it is safe to fly. Thousands have flown safely and thousands more expect to fly safely. But there are too many accidents. When the public begins to greet accident news by saying "Another crash," it's time to be concerned.

There will be an investigation of the airliner's mute wreckage. Perhaps something helpful to promotion of safety will be found. But increasingly, as the list of air disasters grows longer, it must seem there really is only one fundamental cause. When an airplane for any reason falls below its minimum safe forward speed, it immediately becomes subject to the law of gravity. Trite as it sounds to say it, that still is the problem of flight.

Clodhopper to Cloudhopper

Thirty Akron university students—eight of them coeds—have bought an airplane by paying for their flying instruction in advance. They call themselves Cloudhoppers and are affiliated with a national collegiate organization.

This suggests a solution for a problem which has existed ever since father drove into a tree when the boys founde[illegible] the mare and sprung a buggy wheel racing on the township pike. What are the rights of children in the matter of family vehicles?

In the case of the mare and buggy, father forbade [illegible] for any but very great occasions. Then came the automobile, which was more tempting and also easier for a quick getaway. Now it's the airplane and because father doesn't own one and probably won't, the children are getting together to buy their own. Big Sums On Deposit

The leaders of the unions involved in the Michigan strikes have big sums of money on deposit in the [illegible] had big sums to contribute to Mr. Roosevelt's last campaign fund. Not all of these unions have them but in addition every leader of every union who has publicly conceded his participation in the sitdown strikes which were declared illegal by Judges Cadola and Campbell can be sued for damages for the full amount of the loss [illegible] in the complaint. The damages for the entire sum can be translated into a judgment against the unions and their leaders not only in Michigan but anywhere else provided it can be shown that these persons have a bank account or own property of any kind. Once sitdown strikers become aware of the fact that the new technique is not a joke or simply a [illegible] affair but a matter of [illegible] personal liability, the future strike makers may look upon their [illegible]

The way is opened, therefore, for damage suits in Michigan courts and these apparently cannot be interfered with by [illegible] federal court and the application there of the Norris anti-injunction act.

Even stockholders who own shares in the Chrysler and General Motors companies may possibly have a cause for action against the union leaders if these stockholders can show that they have a substantial interest in the corporations and that this interest has been damaged by illegal acts performed by union officers and members. There would be controversy of course as to why the managements themselves didn't bring the action for damages but since the latter agreed to withdrawal of all suits as a part of the peace pact, the stockholders might have to contend that the management was powerless because it was forced under duress to refrain from litigation. In the TVA case last year stockholders of the Alabama Power company were conceded by the supreme court opinion to be within their rights in suing to enjoin a threatened damage to their property even though the management had not been a party to the litigation. There are to be sure various technical questions involved in suits by stockholders but no such difficulties stand in the way of damage suits by one group of workers against another group for wages lost through the sitdown sabotage.

Likewise both the General Motors company and the Chrysler companies are the ones who can [illegible] against those union leaders who have defied court orders. Both Judge Cadola and BERKELEY, Calif., March 29.—Having spent 40 years training modern police officers, August Vollmer, once celebrated as Berkeley's smart police chief, soon will turn to training the public.

He will retire as professor of police administration at the end of the current term at the University of California to devote himself to writing. Perplexed and slightly discouraged at the public's contemptuous attitude toward policemen, he wants to do what he can to correct the situation with his pen.

Along with this crusading, he has mapped out a [illegible] amount of research to determine why crime is rife in the United States. Most of the theories now advanced on the subject are unadulterated fallacies, he says.

AUGUST VOLLMER

Vollmer originated college training for policemen in 1916 at the University of Chicago. At least four universities besides California now offer such courses and [illegible] give some minor instruction, and Vollmer is the guiding spirit of them all.

Congress Feels Slightly Hurt

BY PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, March 29.—President Roosevelt's congressional leaders pushed him into that White House conference on sit-down strikes and the state of the union. Announcements implied the President called the gathering but neglected to mention that it was by earnest request.

The leaders went about their appeal for it in the manner of men who have done everything for the boss and would like to ask just this one favor in return.

The fact is they have been abused all around lately. They felt a little hurt when Mr. Roosevelt neglected to consult them about his court plan in advance. But when he went to Warm Springs they felt they had been left holding the sit-down bag or bags representing the protest mail from back home. Also the Republicans were becoming very annoying each day, asking whether there was a federal government and such things. On occasions the leaders had to call Warm Springs on the telephone to get the right answers.

Behind this situation, of course, is their supreme court predicament. Their friends do not question their White House loyalty but know they would like to have the President palliate the furor by something less drastic than his original proposal.

An outside authority not far from the White House is suggesting privately that the President has received less optimistic reports concerning his chances in the senate from his leaders there than from his downtown lobbyists.

Iceman

The fact that hot money has become a cold subject is being credited to State Secretary Hull, the only man in the administration who has never been beaten in an inside fight.

Any news reader who has a 60-day memory will be able to recall that the administration was that long ago literally burning to do something about incoming gold from abroad. Messrs. Eccles and Morgenthau held conferences. The President commented and coined the phrase hot money.

The incoming gold was then supposed to be causing our inflation and something had to be done immediately. Nothing came except comment and even that has been increasingly diminishing.

They say Mr. Hull was the man who cooled the gold ardor of Messrs. Eccles and Morgenthau by asking what about his foreign trade policy. His Tennessee mountain wrath bulked darker than the Great Smokies (they say) against anything which would interfere with the export market and his Yankee trading business.

The story has increased the great respect of all insiders for the redoubtable Mr. Hull as a warrior to be avoided.

Farm Sentiment

Agriculture Secretary Wallace has been saying 60 per cent of the farmers are for the Roosevelt court program but he would like to be able to prove it.

Those who have asked for some tangible basis for the statement have been given a few letters from local farm organizations out in the country stating "We are 100 per cent for you."

The fact seems to be farm opinion is in deep thought. Washington non-combatants on the inside of that situation say the majority of individual farmers are inclined to support anything Mr. Roosevelt would propose, so deep is their confidence in him. Their leaders however are obviously hanging back, reluctant to get too far out on the court limb. The grange of course is against. Ed O'Neal of the Farm Bureau is Wallace's friend and personally inclined to be for, but his organization is not committed. The others have been issuing statements suggesting the matter requires deliberation.

This is of controlling significance because the farmers realize their leaders know more about the ins and outs of the situation than they do and generally go in whatever direction their leaders may point.

Mr. Wallace has been doing quite some campaigning for the President down south. He made a court speech last week in Georgia, will make two more this week in North Carolina, but so far he has refrained out of the west. Bystanders have not been able to detect any flagrant use of pressure by the vast agriculture department regime to rouse favorable sentiment for the program.

Experience

Those who generally know what Father Coughlin is up to say he is through with such organizations as is the National Union for Social Justice.

The real reason, as reported before, seems to be his discovery during the last campaign that some local chairmen who handled the money were looking out more for the wife and kiddies than for social justice. Dr. Townsend made the same discovery.

Father Coughlin's friends assert he was double crossed, or at least completely misled by many local leaders who said they could deliver votes.

It is doubtful whether he will get mixed up in politics again but if he does he will use the radio and stay out of organizations.

Veteran Views Old Battle Scene

BY O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 29.—Diary: Came news at breakfast that my wife's uncle, Capt. James Gracewood, at 80 had made a lone and sentimental journey to the Gettysburg battlefield upon which he was wounded and it somehow misted our eyes. And so penning long screeds to H. T. Webster and Jay Price, whom I like so much.

Out and by the Plaza to see Lorraine Manville and her new husband from Holland and a cut glass crowd there sparkle with furs and jewels. Then a leisurely hadj down the avenue and Billy Claxton gave me a tube of his new shaving cream and at Dutton's I got a copy of Maugham's new magnum opus "Theater."

Dined at Peithen's and talked to Arnold about the many savage people he knows. And home where news that Mike Hogg had reduced 42 pounds by a stay-in-bed diet rigmarole. Also some interesting tech nuffe about happenings in London from Richmond Temple. So to bed.

Bernard Gimble probably keeps in best physical trim of the merchant princes. In New York he rides every morning, walks several miles a day and swings around the golf course at least twice a week. In the winter he goes to Miami Beach for a month, plays 36 holes of golf daily, does road work and enjoys a long swim in the late afternoon. One of his particular pals is Gene Tunney. Incidentally, Tunney still does road work and other exercises and is within a few pounds of the weight at which he last fought. Gimble's chest expansion, by the way, is the marvel of physical culturists.

No form of sport has had the sudden upshoot in America of skiing. In three years it has become one of the oops-a-daisy diversions—especially among the fashionables. Perhaps the biggest impetus was given the ski craze by W. Averill Harriman's winter resort at Sun Valley, Idaho. Regarded as a doubtful experiment, it clicked from the start and attracted several hundred New Yorkers of headline importance. Every department store has a ski salon and there are a dozen ski shops. And a ski magazine.

FRANCO HURLS CRACK TROOPS AGAINST FOE

Launches New Offensive To Win Rich Mining Region in Southern Spain

By The Associated Press

With the Insurgent[illegible] on the Cordoba Front, March 29—Maneuvering behind a screen of crack Moorish cavalrymen, two wings of the southern insurgent army launched a simultaneous attack today to smash the government barrier to the rich mining region of Ciudad Real.

The perfectly synchronized drive was aimed against Pozoblanco and northward up the valley of the Po[illegible] shattered an Easter calm.

The signal for the general advance could be seen clearly in the fine weather as it was relayed from mountain peak to mountain peak [illegible]

[illegible] had been plotting [illegible] tion of government troops through out the week end.

As the Moorish cavalry [illegible] crashed into action in the mountainous terrain of Cordoba province, the infantry squads spread out in skirmish order behind them.

The double thrust aimed at [illegible] the northern and eastern edges of a box-like area 25 miles on a side and if successful would mean the pinching off of a vast [illegible] the southern front.

The government meanwhile had shifted its center of operations to northwest of Madrid and carving out a 36 square mile area, had salient menaced the insurgent provisional headquarters at Avila.

cemetery in the city although its origin dates back to the earliest years of Marion. However, the first cemetery according to early histories of the county was on South State street near Gurley avenue. It is believed to have been a private grounds and very few persons were buried there. The Quarry street cemetery became the first public cemetery and it was used generally from about 1824 to around 1854 or 1855.

Soldiers of Revolution

A number of Revolutionary war soldiers were buried there. It also became the resting place for a number of the [illegible] victims of the cholera epidemic of 1854 in which 65 persons died.

The old cemetery, however, became unpopular in the fifties with the result the Marion cemetery of today was established. Complaints about it [illegible] cluded its flat surface, the water holding qualities of the soil and its nearness to railroads and saloons of that era. Many burial services were interrupted by parties at the saloons [illegible] one chronicler reported.

The Quarry street tract holds hundreds of graves but the markers, many of them broken and fallen, are the only record of the persons buried here. The original plat of lots was lost and another was drawn but its location is not known.

The grounds are 677 feet long and 19[illegible] feet wide. It is estimated 2[illegible]0 persons were buried here.

One of the stones marks the burial place of David Potts, a Revolutionary war veteran who died [illegible] 1834 [illegible] 102 years [illegible] at the age of [illegible]

Rep. R. J. Keefer, Republican of Logan, asked the assembly to pay $10 from the dog and kennel fund [illegible] a wolf brought down within its borders.

Keefer said wolves were killing livestock in his county and wanted the prize money offered as an inducement to kill the critters.

Another bill on the house calendar would increase the minimum weekly workmen's compensation in cases of temporary or permanent disability from $5 to $8. Sponsored by Rep. [illegible] Democrat of Hamilton, it is an agreed measure between representatives of industry and labor.

WHITE HOUSE LAWN SCENE OF EGG FROLIC

48,500 Children Expected at Easter Monday Festivities and Band Concert

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 29 — [illegible] for thousands of children to gather on the green lawns of the White House for the traditional Easter Monday egg rolling.

Regulations limited admission to children under 10 and adults accompanying them but the general public was invited to enter the grounds in the late afternoon for a marine band concert.

Despite unseasonable cold officials predicted the crowd would approximate last year's 48,500.

The egg rolling festival annually brings to the green expanse south of the White House a scene resembling a Sunday school picnic.

Steep banks provide the arena for the egg rolling itself. The technique is to roll an egg down a bank and hit another egg resting at the bottom. If you are playing for keeps, you get the egg you hit.

N. C. O. League Showdown On Night Grid Contests Ne

Mansfield Opposes Stand Of Loop's Six Other Teams

Hint School May Withdraw, But Officials Believe Question Can Be Ironed Out Without Split.

The question of night football games in the [illegible] Ohio [illegible] which has [illegible] [illegible] appeared to be [illegible] that [illegible] from the spirit of [illegible] next fall.

[illegible] has arisen over Mansfield [illegible] to night games with [illegible] six other schools in the circuit including Harding [illegible] favor games under lights. The situation has moved [illegible] stage with a [illegible] schools in [illegible] Mansfield may withdraw from the league [illegible] Jesse Beer principal of the Mansfield school to Oscar Fuhl [illegible] editor of the Mansfield [illegible] Journal and reprinted [illegible] last week in the sports page of that paper.

Principal Writes Letter

In his letter Mr. [illegible] Beer [illegible] the trend toward night games in other schools and also dealt at length with the local conditions which have led to that school's decision not to equip its field for such contests.

The situation has been moving toward a head since a recent meeting of league representatives of the various schools at Galion. There a resolution was adopted permitting the home school to determine whether the games would be played at night or in the afternoon. The Mansfield delegates were excused from voting because of the school's known opposition to night contests.

One scheduled game which has led to the controversy is the [illegible] with [illegible] [illegible] here [illegible] to [illegible] at night [illegible] first [illegible] [illegible]

After [illegible] at that [illegible] insist [illegible] right [illegible] Mansfield [illegible] the [illegible] question [illegible] [illegible] after the [illegible] question.

[illegible] Marion [illegible] [illegible] for the [illegible] [illegible] with The Star that [illegible] no question [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] field.

The action of [illegible] Galion was taken [illegible] after [illegible] N. C. O. officials in a [illegible] meeting expressed the opinion that such an arrangement of [illegible] [illegible] day and night games would be practical. Harding [illegible] Ashland and Shelby now have lighted fields and Galion and Mt. Vernon are reported to be considering the installation before the next season opens.

Outlines Question

In stating the Mansfield school's attitude toward night games in his letter to the News-Journal sports editor Mr. Beer wrote [illegible] during the long years of the depression with a gigantic stadium debt hanging over our heads and with dwindling gate receipts an actuality our athletic board also considered the possibility of lighting our field. Our board at a financial sacrifice decided against night football first as a measure of safety to our pupils second as a step opposed to the commercialization of high school sports and third because we had no assurance that other schools would consent to play night games on our field."

In a further discussion of the issues involved in the present N. C. O. controversy Mr. Beer wrote:

"It may be for the best interests of all concerned that the present league should be broken up. If it should develop that this is the best way out there is no reason why we should not sever our relations in a spirit of friendship and mutual understanding."

Earlier in his letter Mr. Beer said that at no time at the Galion meeting was there any antagonism expressed toward Mansfield. On the contrary he wrote there was a universal feeling of regret that the problem of night football should be so difficult of solution. Furthermore the representatives of all the schools in the league were outspoken in their desire to keep the league intact.

KENASTON, LARUE ON TONIGHT'S MAT BILL

Differences which arose in last week's battle royal between Sergeants Bob Kenaston and Johnny LaRue should be up for the payoff tonight when the pair meet in one of the featured 90-minute bouts at the Shovel gymnasium. From all indications LaRue is due to take it on the chin for pooling his efforts last week with the rough Bostonian Gil LaCrosse and eliminating Kenaston in no gentle fashion.

LaCrosse backed out of the feud after Kenaston issued a challenge to meet either of his aggressors on a winner take all basis with nothing barred. The Bostonian expressed his viewpoint with the assertion "Well we beat him didn't we." The other 90-minute main go will be between Count Von Bromberg and Honey Boy Hackney. The Count is one of the wildest of the entire wrestling clan his attacks being as ferocious as they are unorthodox.

Hackney the southern gentleman sticks to legitimate tactics as a rule but is a powerful youngster and Marion fans are eager to see what he will do when Von Bromberg begins to unload his rough stuff. A 20-minute preliminary completes the mat program which opens at 8:30 o'clock.

STOCKS JERKY IN SLOW TRADE

Tape Nearly Stops at Noon as Traders Await Decision on Wagner Labor Law.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 29—While there were a few prominent stock market gainers today, trends were highly indefinite in exceptionally slow dealings.

The ticker tape came to a virtual stop around noon as traders considered possibility of the supreme court handing down a decision on the Wagner labor act. Upholding of the railway labor law brought no immediate selling of the carriers.

Corporation bonds were moderately improved. Grains exhibited strength at Chicago, with cash wheat shooting up to $1.50 a bushel. Rubber futures bounded above the 26¼-cent a pound level for the first time since 1929.

A little more hope for the coppers was seen in Anaconda's 1936 statement disclosing an increase in net income of 42 per cent over the previous year. Kennecott's report, due later, was expected to make an equally impressive showing.

Rail equipment stocks received further study in view of estimates five principal makers of freight and passenger cars and three dominant locomotive manufacturers are assured of gross business of about $150,000,000 in 1937 even if no more contracts are placed.

Interesting to the boardrooms was the survey of the magazine "Steel" stressing the fact demand for metals shows no signs of letdown.

Current steel bookings, it was said, are in excess of shipments with backlogs increasing. In an effort to obtain supplies some customers were understood to be offering premiums over present prices, although mills were hesitant to accept these offers.

WHEAT PRICE JUMPS BEYOND $1.50 MARK

Profit-Taking Spree Cuts Advance Helped Along by Snow Out West.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 29—For the first time since 1928, immediate delivery wheat sold in Chicago today above 1.50, but brisk profit taking more than wiped out advances.

Adding momentum to the late reactionary trend from the day's top prices for wheat were reports of beneficial snowfalls in the dust bowl region and other important sections of domestic crop territory. On the other hand, the United States wheat visible supply total today showed a decrease of 1,344,000 bushels to 33,335,000 bushels against 47,201,000 a year ago.

At the close, wheat was ⅝ lower to ⅛ higher than Saturday's finish, May 1.43 ¼–1.43⅜, July 1.26⅝–⅝, corn ⅜–1⅞ advanced, May 1.18⅜–1.19, July 1.13¾–⅞, oats ⅛ off to ⅜ up and provisions unchanged to 10 cents higher.

U. B. CHURCH FILLED AT SUNDAY CONCERT

Visiting Delegations in Glee Club's Audience.

Marion's First United Brethren church was crowded to capacity yesterday afternoon as the Otterbein College Men's Glee club gave a special concert. The audience was estimated at 850 and was swelled by delegations from many nearby points, including Lima, Bucyrus and Cardington.

A banjo orchestra from the college accompanied the singers, who had as their manager Donald R. Martin of Westerville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Royal Martin, former Marion residents.

Among the visitors at the concert was Frank A. Van Sickle of Cardington, president of the Otterbein Alumni association.

The glee club members sang two hymns in the evening revival service and were guests of the young people of the church at a 6 o'clock dinner.

Rev. Carl V. Roop reported the concert and revival services resulted in the addition of $694 to the church's building fund and that more is expected to be added soon. Thirty-two new members were taken into the church.

The glee club members were guests of the Ladies' Aid society [illegible] today and will sing [illegible] night.

CALEDONIA LEGION WINS HIGH AWARD

Membership Achievement Brings Honor to Veterans' Organization.

A total of 55 members, representing 178 per cent of its quota places Caledonia Post No. 401, American Legion in fifth place in the state it was announced at a meeting Saturday night. The post also will be awarded a "deluxe" citation for having obtained 150 per cent of the quota by March 15. The percentage was reached Aug. 15, last year and was the first to be reported in the state.

Plans were completed for the selection of boys to be sent to the Buckeye State this year. Two boys will be sent from Caledonia and two from Martel, it was announced. Arrangements also were made to attend the Legion "roundup" to be held in Columbus Saturday.

Awards will be presented the boys and girls of the Caledonia and Martel schools whose essays were judged the best submitted from these schools in the state essay contest.

They are Caledonia, Robert Kelly and Helen Coulter, ninth grade, Lowell Lyon and Doris McKinstry, tenth grade, John Heisel and Mildred Arnold, eleventh grade, Ralph Lyon and Ruth Roberts, twelfth grade. Martel, Lowell Pounce and Maxine Roesch, eleventh grade, and Arthur Waitley and Doris Wilkins twelfth grade. The medals will be awarded at a public meeting to be announced later.

Completing the meeting was the presentation of a plaque received from the United States forestry department in acknowledgment of the work done by the post and auxiliary in the interest of conserving natural resources.

SIMPLE SOLUTION FOR SIT-DOWN STRIKES

Judge Campbell could then go ahead and punish union leaders for contempt. If, however, the corporations involved refrain from pressing this point, then American public opinion will hardly be inclined to sympathize with them in any future outcries about the breakdown of law and order in Michigan. Their policy may be expedient, but it not defensible as a matter of law.

In a sense the administration here, too, is not pressing its legal rights for reasons of expediency. The congressional leaders, who, after conferring with President Roosevelt, said there was no federal power to intervene, plainly overlooked the statute of 1871 printed in these columns last week, which statute was used by President Grover Cleveland to preserve law and order in Illinois. No request from a state legislature or governor is necessary to insure federal intervention where, for any cause, state or federal courts of law have been hindered in the execution of their orders.

The crux of the matter is that the Roosevelt administration is under political obligation to the Lewis unions and fears political reprisals from the labor leaders if it takes any steps to discourage "sitdown" strikes. General Hugh Johnson may argue that Mr. Lewis has no dictatorial influence at the White House, but the paralyzing effect of the C. I. O. leadership upon White House and department of labor action has been tantamount to the same thing for the last six weeks, and now congressional leaders of the new deal majority, at Mr. Roosevelt's behest, also concur in a policy of inaction and passive acquiescence.

MAN SOUGHT AFTER ESCAPE CAPTURED

Warren Garey Held Here Pending Return to Workhouse.

Marion police early Sunday morning apprehended Warren Garey, 32, of 1021 West Center street, who was sentenced to the Columbus workhouse last January and allegedly walked away from the institution last Tuesday.

Garey was committed to the workhouse from Marion county following his plea of guilty in municipal court to a charge of chicken stealing. He was fined $100 and costs and given a 60-day sentence.

Police, who late last week learned of his escape, were on the lookout for him when they received a report that he had been seen on West Center street. He was taken into custody and is being held at the city prison pending his return to the workhouse.

BUCYRUS, MARION CARS IN COLLISION

Cars driven by Howard Mitchell, 28, of 333 Uncapher avenue, and Oliver Grounds, 44, of Bucyrus, figured in a traffic collision on state route 23, near the Marion County Children's home last night about 10:30, according to a report of state highway patrolmen from the Marion sub-station. Both cars were traveling south and the automobile driven by Grounds struck the rear end of Mitchell's car, patrolmen said. Damage to Mitchell's car was estimated at $50, while the other car was damaged to the extent of about $35.

He was one of six men elected to Phi Sigma Alpha, national political science honorary fraternity, and he was elected president of Beta Theta Pi fraternity. Mr. Pfeiffer is a nephew of Mrs. D. H. Lincoln of East Center street.
